"SCOFF-LAW."

Bootlegger has been generally accepted as a suitable name for the man who makes a business of procuring and selling illegal liquor for profit, but we have lacked a name for the purchaser and drinker of the forbidden merchandise. So a prize of $200 was offered for the manufacture of a fitting word, and out of some 2500 suggestions which came from forty-eight states, the word "scofflaw" was pronounced the winner. The judges are said to have chosen this word because of its sibilant sound—"S-words."

Of course no derivation from ancient roots is mentioned and none is involved, "scofflaw" being obviously a mere combination of the two English words "scoff" and "law," and meaning simply a scoffer of the law. In meaning, therefore, "scofflaw" is quite sufficiently appropriate, for the purchasers of illicit liquor are more or less contemptuous of one law, whether they regard it as unjust and tyrannically arbitrary or not, or whether their conscious thought fails to lift above the mere insistent and absorbing call of physical thirst. Though ugly to the sight and unpleasant to the ear—which may be partly what was sought—"scofflaw" is not a bad word for the purpose, but whether it will be generally adopted and employed as a companion word with bootlegger remains to be seen. As a rule the word of spontaneous generation has a better chance of popularity than the word of deliberate manufacture.

There is not so much difference in humans as some would have us think. Most of us intend to do about what is right, but too many of us don't work hard enough at it.

We are going to have our bank roll photographed so we can have it enlarged.

It costs more to live now than ever before—but it's worth it.

A positive woman is usually negative. But a woman's negative is never positive.

J. P. Morgan has gone to Europe. He knows where the money is.

"Prohibition still in its infancy." Press writers report in some parts of the country it seems to be still on the bottle.

The fellow who is always going around with an axe to grind, always wants someone else to furnish the grindstone and turn the handle.

Switzerland has been at peace four centuries. We'll bet the reason is she hasn't got her last war paid for yet.

You can buy a friend wherever you and a dog for sale.

In marriage, he who hesitates is bossed.

Sisters are your parents' daughters who usually ought to be ashamed of themselves.

Percy, as a given name, just doesn't fit a big, husky man.

In Egypt the queens wore beards. The queen we were out with the other night must have been an Egyptian.

We heard a bird say when asked if he would like to be married again, "No, just free."

Banana jobbers announce there is to be a convention in Florida soon. Judging by repeated comment during the past few months we are of the opinion there are no bananas.

She is said to have been the first woman in Ohio to enter active newspaper work. In 1900 Governor Nash appointed her representative of Ohio women at the Paris exposition. She remained abroad for many months and has since made frequent trips to England and France. Whatever else Miss Hopley's business cards say they always have in the lower left-hand corner, Home Address, Bucyrus, Ohio. "It isn't civic pride alone that makes up my loyalty to the old home town," she insists. "Bucyrus is always on the map."

A large part of her work for the prohibition unit consists in public speaking. Reporters who have followed her meetings are astonished into commenting on the fact that she is broad-minded, with all her enthusiasm for prohibition. She comes with official power, they say, but she is content to let the question rest with the public. She is spending her time just "telling folks about it." She tells them what the enforcement forces are doing. She tells them what great obstacles have been thrown in the way. She pictures those which are used maliciously and those used by the uninformed and the unintelligent.

Controlling the malicious wet forces isn't the part of the job that this skilled newspaper woman is interested in. Education of those who are uninformed and indifferent carries to Georgia Hopley the thrill of being as practical as a shoe-selling campaign and as idealistic as the dreams of her mother.

The Old Reliable Bible Class of Speers M. E. Sunday School met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Hoffran on Friday evening. After the business meeting, a social time was held. In Society's Realm

The Sewing Circle of St. Jerome's Catholic church will meet at the home of Mrs. Mary Leider of Washington avenue tomorrow evening.

Justice of the Peace John B. Smith officiated at his second marriage ceremony Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock, when Miss Anna Pavlick and Fred Reid, noted pitcher of the Cleveland-Americans, were united in the bonds of matrimony. Following the ceremony the young couple left for a wedding trip, and will undoubtedly make their home in Allentown.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Harriet Moran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Moran of Ambridge, niece of Mrs. William High of Fallowfield avenue, to Tommy Davies, the former University of Pittsburgh football star, which took place Friday, January 18, in St. Veronica Catholic church, Allentown. Mr. Davies was one of the greatest footballers ever developed at Pitt. He was selected by Walter Camp for a place on the All-American team a few years ago, and was generally regarded as one of the outstanding stars of his team. He "prepped" at Kiski before entering Pitt. He is well known in Charleroi, having made many visits here. They are residing at 803 Highland avenue, East End.

COLLEGE TEAM IS TO BE MEET

The Charleroi Firemen will play Waynesburg, at Waynesburg, January 31.

The Charleroi Firemen's lineup boasts a number of former college stars, including Stepanian, the former Grove City star, who is coaching Charleroi High.

Waynesburg will be somewhat strengthened for this game with "Red" Smith, the Toledo lad who as yet is not eligible for collegiate games, in the lineup.

CENTURY LINE IS IN DISPUTE

Berwick, Jan. 28.—(United Press) The Luzerne-Columbia county line near here, run 111 years ago, is in dispute and a joint meeting of the county commissioners held here ordered the line re-run which is now being done.

The line in controversy separates Berwick, in Columbia county, from East Berwick, in Salem township, Luzerne county, and involves the paying of taxes by several hundred people. It is alleged that Luzerne county has encroached on Columbia county but the original line could not be found.

Luzerne county was carved out of Northumberland county 137 years ago and Columbia was also taken from Northumberland county 137 years ago and Columbia was also taken from Northumberland county but not until 26 years later. Meeting of the joint county commissioners will be held again in the spring when the line has been re-run.

Shoemaker's Last.

The word "last" as used in the shoe-maker's trade has nothing to do with "last" in the sense of latest, but is derived from an old Saxon root, a "last" meaning a footprint, or shape of a foot. Though the word dropped out of general speech centuries ago, it has, by some freak of language, been retained as a technical word meaning the foot shape on which the shoe maker builds up his boot.

Origin of the Ribston Pippin.

Each leading apple has its story, and one may be given, that of the Ribston Pippin. For it we have to thank a diplomatist, who was made a baronet by Charles I, Sir Henry Goodricke, who planted three "pips" sent him from Normandy, at Ribston, Yorkshire. Two came to nothing, but the third flourished, and from it came all the Ribston apple trees in England.

TIPS FOR THE TAX PAYERS

Taxpayers, in the preparation of their 1923 income tax returns, should note carefully the distinction between business expenses and capital expenditures. Business expenses are deductible, but a capital expenditure may not be. For example, a manufacture may erect a new building at a cost of $100,000 and spend on it during the year $500 for repairs, such as painting the roof, replacing broken windows, etc. The cost of the incidental repairs of the building is a capital investment, which is not deductible.

Articles that will last more than a year purchased for use in business, trade or profession are considered capital investments. These include books bought by a lawyer, physician, or other professional man, a surgeon's instruments, an expressman's truck, or a farmer's tractor.

Even when used in carrying on a business, trade, or profession, the purchase price of an automobile is not deductible. If used partly for business and partly for pleasure and convenience, the cost of upkeep, gasoline, repairs, etc., may be apportioned accordingly and that part attributable to business purposes deductible as a business expense.

Necessary expenses incurred in the maintenance of property leased to others may be deducted by the owner. These include premiums on fire insurance, policies, the cost of water, light, heat, janitor services, and minor repairs.

SHIPMENT BY WATER FROM THE DOCK

Preparing for shipment by river to cut down freight and to avoid delays when railroads are congested, the Homestead Steel Works of the Carnegie Steel Company will within the next few weeks have their huge new dock situated above the Braddock bridge, ready for use.

Costing approximately $400,000, the dock is one of the most complete of its kind and is of fifteen tons capacity. A big gantry crane stands on the dock for moving the steel in place.

The dock will not only be used by the Homestead works but by the Clainton, Duquesne, Edgar Thompson and Wire works.

It will connect with Ambridge, Mc-Chesnut, Marshall, Continental department of the National Tube works and others and it is planned to make through shipments to New Orleans.

Of course, at the present time, shipments can be made at only certain times of the year or when the water is not too low.

If the contemplated river improvements are made within the next few years it is intended to make all shipments to the south by water.

BODIES OF 36

handkerchiefs in water and tie them about their faces. Then he found an air passage. Leading the weak and staggering along its entire length, he finally came to a point where he knew the cat had fallen in from above.
He then helped them one by one to climb to the surface and safety.

Three other miners who were not killed by the explosion managed to make their way to another air passage, and later in the night gained their freedom. A fourth miner dashed along the main entry but was overcome by gas and perished.

The blast occurred just as the men were gathering preparatory to leaving the shaft, officials said.

John Stone, mine foreman, whose body has been recovered, had refused a transfer to a neighboring mine just a week ago.

Alfred Stoke, his assistant, had several thousand dollars, his savings, sewed in the inside of his shirt.

The cold weather saved the life of Rev. Clare Irwin, pastor of the Star-ford M. E. church, who works on the same shift, but who decided to stay home Saturday on account of the low temperature.

"Skyrocketing" the Price of Chairs.

Everyone knows how exorbitant the prices of genuine antique furniture are. The purchasers are generally rich and don't often dispute the price, and the supply is rarely equal to the demand. In a recent court case, says London Opinion, a witness who was a furniture dealer testified as follows:

"In October, 1920, I went to Sud-bury hall, Lord Vernon's place in Derbyshire, to bring to town ten Chipendale chairs and two settees that we had bought. In a few days we sold them to Messrs. Dighton."

"What did you pay for them?" asked the examining lawyer.

"About six hundred pounds."

"How long was it before you sold them to Messrs. Dighton?"

"About six weeks."

"For how much?"

"One thousand four hundred pounds."

"And then they were sold to Mr.
Shragar for three thousand pounds."

What do you suppose Lord Vernon would think of that—a profit of two thousand four hundred pounds the dealers made out of his chairs in a few weeks?

What indeed!

Strength of Eggs.
Wonderful provision has been made by nature for the protection of eggs against breakage by building them on the principle of the arch. The fact that no one can break a hen's egg by squeezing it between his hands so long as he applies the pressure in the direction of the long axis of the egg has led to certain experiments with a special apparatus. The eggs were placed point upward on a scale and pressure was applied by means of a lever and jack. Brown eggs proved stronger than white ones. They broke under a pressure that averaged 155 pounds. White eggs broke under an average pressure of 112.5 pounds. The shells were found to be from 0.13 to 0.14 of an inch thick. Since the average diameter of the eggs used was 1 1/2 inches, some idea can be gained of the strength that the egg owes to its structural form.

Strange Companions.

A correspondent at Sydney, N. S.
W., sends the following strange story:
More than three years ago a tortoise crawled into the grounds of Marengo Chase, Morpeth, New South Wales, the residence of Capt. D. J.
Marshall. At the same time a bat appeared. The tortoise and the bat were friends, and their association caused much amusement. After wandering about the grounds for three months, the tortoise left, followed by the bat.

Neither the tortoise nor the bat was seen again for three years, but recently Captain Marshall was astonished by the reappearance in his grounds of the tortoise and the bat.
During their absence they had made a new friend—a magpie, and the queer trio now live in amity.
